

Supervision workshop with Constellations

Den Haag, 29 June 2023

Discover the magic and the power of Constellations in Coaching supervision.

During this one-day workshop you will experience the magic and the power of Constellations in Coaching Supervision in a group setting.

This experiential workshop is a unique opportunity to work on your supervision case.

The workshop is open to Coaches and HR professionals who wants to improve their effectiveness in dealing with their relationships at work.

You will experience an approach to Constellations that is specific to Coaching, with clear boundaries from Family Constellations, a non-directive approach and applications to a broad variety of coaching topics.

The working language is English.

Workshop objectives

During this one-day experiential workshop you will:

- experience how Constellations can be used in Coaching Supervision
- be able to volunteer to work with Constellations on your specific case to gain clarity about the situation and learn how to be more successful in dealing with it
- gain personal insights by observing or participating in the work of others
- deepen your understanding of the ICF Competency Model and develop your coaching skills

Cases for supervision could be, for example:

- your relationship with a coaching client, the representative(s) of a client organization or business partner(s)
- your role in a team you lead, you coach or you are part of
- how you manage your colleagues and your stakeholders
- your position in proposing or selling a project to an organization

Meet the facilitator: Francesco Pimpinelli

Francesco has been developing and directing The Academy of Constellations since 2013.

He is a Professional Certified Coach with ICF and a Professional Certified Counselor, with an extensive expertise in personal development. He has studied Constellations with several teachers including the creator of the method, Bert Hellinger.

He has been working professionally as a Coach and Constellations practitioner for more than twenty years, developing extensive experience in utilizing this method in the business context.

Before dedicating himself to working with people in 2002, he has been in the corporate business world over sixteen years, working as a manager and management consultant for large international organisations.

Francesco currently works as a coach with senior teams and executives in Europe across different industries.
